DETAILED ACTION

Cancellation of claims 1-41 and 60-89 are acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 42-50, 52-53, and 56 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gebhardt et al.

Gebhardt teaches a decorative sheet comprising a base member, formed from a resin material (22, FIG. 1d and associated text)), having a first and a second principal surfaces opposite to each other; a decoration layer (6, FIG. 2 and associated text), provided on the first principal surface of the base member, having a pattern area representing a predetermined pattern (resin 6, FIG. 1d and associated text); and a spread suppressing member (metal 5, FIG. 1d and associated text), provided in a position corresponding to the pattern area on the side of the first principal surface or on the side of the second principal surface of the base member, for suppressing the spreading of the pattern area of the decoration layer (where metal 5 touches 22 plastic, FIG. 1d and associated text), instant claims 42-49). The thermal conductivity coefficients are inherent as the same material is used (instant claims 45 and 50). See also 16:1-25, 49:5-25, 55:1-25, 56:60-68.

Art Unit: 1774

Gebhardt teaches the suppressing member includes a portion arranged along an outer circumference (top portion 5 plateau touching upper surface of 6, FIG. 1d and associated text) (instant claim 52).

Gebhardt teaches the suppressing member includes a portion arranged along an outer circumference (part where 5 extends from top corners to cavity on each side of 6, FIG. 1d and associated text) (instant claim 53).

Gebhardt teaches the molded article comprises a molded article body (16:58-38) and the decorative layer of instant claim 42 set forth above, and joined to a surface of the body (tool surface of printed board substrate, 16:10-40 and see also patent claim 17) per instant claim 56.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 51, 54-55, and 57-59 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gebhardt et al. as applied to claim 42 above.

Gebhardt essentially teaches the claimed invention as set forth above, but does not teach a range as recited in instant claims 51, 54-55, and 57-58.

However, Gebhardt does not state the thickness as recited. However, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to produce a thickness as claimed, since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272. Thickness effects the degree of light shielding (col. 4, lines 55-60 of Mori).

Regarding claim 59, Gebhardt teaches the molded and decorative sheet set forth above is a part of molding, but not intended use toward a motor vehicle comprising the molded article. However, it has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Additionally note that claim 56 lacks antecedent basis to "the decorative sheet of claim 42", as claim 42 only comprises a decorative layer, not sheet.

Conclusion

3. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37

CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
